This Employee Leave Packet includes:

- 2) Certification of Health Care Provider for Employee's Serious Health Condition (WH-380-E)
- 3) Job Description – added by Human Resources at the time of leave request when possible

Employee Responsibilities:

- The employee must submit a written request at least 30 days prior to the commencement of leave in cases where the leave is foreseeable and make reasonable efforts in scheduling leave to avoid disrupting the work unit. The request should be directed to the supervisor and Human Resources. If an employee becomes aware of a need for Family Leave less than 30 days in advance, the employee must provide notice as soon as practical.
- Family Leave requests must be supported by a Certification of Health Care Provider form (attached).

 - Section III is completed by the treating health care provider (after essential job functions are ○ noted by the supervisor)
 - The employee must return the completed certification form to Human Resources. ○ Failure to provide medical certification in a timely manner may delay the commencement of leave or result in denial of the request for Family Leave.

Failure to provide medical certification in a timely manner may delay the commencement of leave or result in denial of the request for Family Leave. Supervisor Responsibilities:

It is the supervisor's responsibility to review the employee's job description (attached), so that the treating physician may appropriately assess the employee's work status.

- On the job description, the supervisor should designate the essential job functions with an "E."
- If the job description is not attached OR if the job description does not list the essential job functions, the supervisor should indicate the employee's essential job functions in Section I (employer section) of the Certification of Health Care Provider for Employee's Serious Health Condition (WH-380-E).
- The supervisor should indicate the employee's job title and regular work schedule in Section I.
- After noting the essential functions (on the job description or on the certification form), the supervisor should promptly return the packet to the employee for submission to their health care provider.
- A copy of job description with essential job functions MUST be returned to HR within 5 days.
- The health care provider will then be able to identify the employee's essential job functions in order to determine the employee's current work status and ability to return to work.

FAMILY LEAVE

Eligibility Any regular employee who has completed 12 months of benefits-eligible employment may request Family Leave, which is unpaid, job-protected leave. The "rolling" 12-month method is used for calculating Family Leave, which is measured backward from the date an employee uses any Family Leave. Each time an employee takes Family Leave the remaining entitlement would be any balance of the 12 weeks.

Leave Requirement-Family Leave may be granted for: (1) the birth of a child or placement of an adopted or foster child; or (2) the serious health condition of the employee or the employee's spouse, child or parent. Leave may be taken for the birth or placement of a child only within 12 months of that birth or placement. When available, all appropriate paid leave must be used prior to the commencement of unpaid leave.

Basic Family Leave: A maximum of 12 weeks may be granted for the following reasons:

- A serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform his/her job;
- To care for the employee's spouse, son, daughter, or parent, who has a serious health condition;
- Incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal medical care or child birth; or
- To care for the employee's child after birth, or placement for adoption or foster care.

Leave may be taken for the birth or placement of a child only within 12 months of that birth or placement. Appropriate paid leave will run concurrently with Family Leave. When available, all appropriate paid leave must be used prior to the commencement of unpaid Family Leave.

Military Family Leave Eligible employees with a spouse, son, daughter, or parent on active duty or call to active duty status in the National Guard or Reserves in support of a contingency operation may use their 12-week leave entitlement to address certain qualifying exigencies. Qualifying exigencies may include attending certain military events, arranging for alternative childcare, addressing certain financial and legal arrangements, attending certain counseling sessions, and attending post-deployment reintegration briefings.

A special leave entitlement permits eligible employees to take up to 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered service member during a single 12-month period. A covered service member is a current member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National Guard or Reserves, who has a serious injury or illness incurred in the line of duty on active duty that may render the service member medically unfit to perform his or her duties for which the service member is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy; or is in outpatient status; or is on the temporary disability retired list.

Leave Requests Employees must submit a written request at least 30 days prior to the commencement of leave in cases where the leave is foreseeable and the employee must make reasonable efforts in scheduling leave to avoid disrupting the work unit. When an employee becomes aware of a need for Family Leave less than 30 days in advance, the employee must provide notice as soon as practical.

Intermittent Leave for a serious health condition may be taken intermittently or the employee may work a reduced schedule if "medically necessary." Leave may be taken on an intermittent basis or work schedule may be reduced for the birth or placement of a child only if the employer agrees to the arrangement.

Certification Family Leave requests must be documented by a health care provider's certification of a serious health condition for the employee or that of a family member (spouse, child, or parent). Recertification will be required as needed. A Certification of Health Care Provider form is available in the Office of Human Resources or can be downloaded at the Human Resources website under Employee Forms. For paid sick leave to be used for absences relating to childbirth, personal illness, or the illness of a family member covered by the Sick Leave policy, a health-care provider's certification is also necessary (see "Sick Leave" section). A copy of the adoption papers and an indication of the expected return-to-work date in the written leave request are sufficient to document the use of Family Leave for adoption purposes. Failure to provide medical certification in a timely fashion may delay the commencement of leave or result in denial of the request for Family Leave.

Serious Health Condition A serious health condition is an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves either an overnight stay in a medical care facility, or continuing treatment by a health care provider for a condition that either prevents the employee from performing the functions of his/her job, or prevents the qualified family member from participating in school or other daily activities.

Subject to certain conditions, the continuing treatment requirement may be met by a period of incapacity of more than three consecutive calendar days combined with at least two visits to a health care provider or one visit and a regimen of continuing treatment, or incapacity due to pregnancy, or incapacity due to a chronic condition. Other conditions may meet the definition of continuing treatment.

Pay Status Absences in excess of accrued sick leave (when appropriate) and annual leave are unpaid. Although there are some exceptions (e.g., absences connected to work-related injuries), the university generally is not able to hold jobs for more than 12 weeks. If an employee is unable to return to work at the end of the 12 week Family Leave absence, employment will be terminated.

Benefits Eligibility During an approved Family Leave, an employee remains eligible to continue in the medical, FSA, life, accidental death & dismemberment, long-term disability, and tuition remission plans. Continued eligibility is contingent upon timely receipt of the employee premium contribution. Employees on unpaid leave must arrange to pay for the cost of their benefit premiums out of pocket. Arrangements for paying such premiums should be made with the Office of Human Resources prior to the commencement of the leave. The university will continue to contribute its portion of the total premium.
